The Stingray 12 has a friendly and intelligent hull design providing maximum stability for entry-level kayakers, without sacrificing a hint of performance. "I wanted to design the ideal Trekreation boat with comfort, performance and durability as the key components," says designer Allen Stancil. The highlight is our new, innovative storage system, built in behind the seat. This "Console" can secure two fishing rods, two drinks, and extra gear and tackle with a bungee to keep it all tidy. The Stingray 12 is comfortable and user-friendly for the whole family, with an extra large cockpit area which offers easy entries and exits.
